One box dissolved in a half pint of water, will make a good liquid blue as good as any made of one third the cost.
As it is retained at the same price as the Indigo and inferior articles, housekeepers will find it very much to their advantage to buy Barlow's and take no other. All Blue put up after this date with Barlow's name on it is an indication, except that put up by Al. Fred. Wither. ap24dwt

DAILY GAZETTE.
The Amities of War.
B. F. Taylor, the war correspondent of the Chicago Journal, tells the following interesting story:
Now and then, a little human smile brightens war's grim visage, like a flash of sunshine in an angry day. I remember one that I wish I could daguerotype. The amities of battle are so few, how precious they become. Let me give you that "little touch of nature that makes the world kin." A few months ago, the 3d Ohio, belonging to Straight's command, entered a town en route for Richmond, prisoners of war. Worn down, famished, hearts heavy and haversacks light, they were herded together, "like dumb, driven cattle," to wear out the night. A rebel regiment, the 54th Virginia, being encamped near by, many of its men came strolling about to see the sorry show of poor, superfluous Yankees. They did not stare long, but hastened away to camp, and came streaming back with coffee-kettles, corn bread and bacon—the best they had, and all they had—and straightway little fires began to kindle, bacon was suffering the martyrdom of the Saint of the Gridiron, and the aroma of coffee rose like the fragrant cloud of a thank offering. Loyal guests and rebel hosts were mingled; our hungry boys ate and were satisfied, and for that one night, our common humanity stood acquitted of the heavy charge of total depravity, with which it is blackened. Night and our boys departed together; the prisoners in due time were exchanged, and are now encamped within rifle-shot of Kelly's Ford, on the bank of the Tennessee. But often, around the camp fires, I have heard them talk of the 54th Virginia, that proved themselves so immeasurably better "than a brother afar off" heard them wonder where they were, and discuss the chance that they might ever meet. When they denounced the "damnable Johnny Rebs," the name of one regiment, you may be sure, was tucked away in a snug place, quite out of the range of hard words.
And now comes the sequel that makes a beautiful poem of the whole of it. On the day of the storming of Mission Ridge, among the prisoners was the 54th Virginia, and on Friday it trailed away across the pontoon bridge and along the mountain road, nine miles to Kelley's Ferry. Arrived there, it settled upon the bank like wasps, awaiting the boat. A week elapsed, and your correspondent followed suit. The Major of the 2d Ohio welcomed me to the warm hospitalities of his quarters, and almost the first thing he said was, "you should have been here last Friday; you missed the denouement of that beautiful little drama of ours, whose first act I have told you. Would you believe that the 54th Virginia has been here? Some of our boys were on duty at the Landing when it arrived. 'What regiment is this?' they asked, and when the reply was given they started for camp like quarter horses, and shouted as they rushed in and out among the smoky cones of the 'Sibleys,' the 54th Virginia is at the Ferry! The camp swarmed in three minutes. Treasurers of coffee, bacon, sugar, beef, preserved peaches, everything were turned out 'in force,' and you may believe they went laden with plenty at double quick to the Ferry!"
The same old scene, and yet how strangely changed. The twinkling fires, the grateful incense, the hungry captives, but guests and hosts had changed places; the starlit folds floated for "the bonny blue flag," a debt of honor was paid to the uttermost farthing. If they had a triumph of arms at Chattanooga, hearts were trumps at Kelly's Ferry. And there it was and then it was that a horrid war smiled a human smile, and a grateful, gentle light flared for a moment on the point of the bayonet.
And yet, should the 54th Virginia return to-morrow with arms in their hands, to the Tennessee, the 3d Ohio would meet them on the bank fight them foot to foot, and beat them back with rain so pitiless the river would run red.

How Reconstruction will Work.
[From the Washington Observer.]
Examination into the basis of the President's plan for the reconstruction of the perfect Union, shows that the Chief Magistrate had thoroughly examined his ground before he planted himself upon it. The following table has been compiled to show the number of loyal voters required in the respective states in order to the proposed organization:
Total vote in Number required.
Alabama..... 1860, 9,037
Arkansas..... 64,056 5,406
Florida..... 14,347 1,436
Georgia..... 106,365 10,637
Louisiana..... 50,500 4,050
Mississippi..... 69,120 6,912
Tennessee..... 145,338 14,534
North Carolina..... 95,230 9,523
Texas..... 62,986 6,298
Total..... 67,931
It is assumed that Virginia is already virtually reconstructed, while South Carolina is not included, because she has cast hitherto no popular vote for President, though doubtless her unrepentant system will hereafter be abandoned. The table shows that the work of reconstruction will not be difficult under the President's lenient proclamation, and in some of the States might almost be commenced forthwith. The four thousand in Louisiana, for instance, might be found to day, as might the five or six thousand in Arkansas, and the six thousand in Texas; probably, also, the fifteen thousand in Tennessee. The question probably is, whether the Federal Government can as yet afford the minorities of Union men sufficient protection against the rebel majorities in those States. In a little while the minorities will have decreased and the minorities increased. It is suggested that we can fight for the territory they reclaim, as well as after loyal governments have been organized, as before. We incline to the opinion, however, that the wisest policy will be to avoid such conflicts after reorganization, and to wait awhile rather than incur them.

DAILY GAZETTE.

The Amelities of War.

B. F. Taylor, the war correspondent of the Chicago Journal, tells the following interesting story:</

Forever float that standard sheet—
Where breathes the foe but falls before us!
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

THE NEWS.

Some interesting items of news will be found in the appropriate columns. There is a little flutter of excitement in Western Virginia, which will probably end in smoke. Ex-Gov. Hicks, of Maryland, has been elected to the United States Senate.

But one Senator is in favor of striking out the $300 clause in the conscription act. This indicates that it will not be stricken out, which is just and proper.

Of the soldiers now in the field, only 20,000 will have ended their term of enlistment in July next.

Jack Frost has built a bridge to Johnson's Island, and fears are entertained that the rebel prisoners will take advantage of it.

Indiana reports nine full regiments already in camp and two more nearly full. Wilson introduced a resolution to expel Davis, of Kentucky, for treason, which will probably have a good effect on Davis.

The rebels are said to be moving their factories to some safe place further south.

The Monroe Doctrine Ignored.

Certain malignant spirits who do not relish their food or enjoy the blessings of life unless they are poisoning over some real or imaginary short comings of the present Administration, have just discovered a most remarkable and striking omission in the late Message of President Lincoln.

That document is really so candid and unexceptionable in spirit, and so replete with the suggestions of a sound and liberal statesmanship that the opposition find it a fruitless task to assail it; and so they are, making the most they are able to over what they are pleased to term the "omissions" of the Message.

Scratching that state paper with the commendable intention of finding what isn't in it, they stood aghast at the paucity of subjects discussed, and are in despair when they think of the numberless blunders Mr. Lincoln might have been guilty of, if he had written a message three or four times as long and put himself in antagonism with the best interests of the people and the nation.

The omission which seems to bother these factious spirits the most, is the reference which Mr. Lincoln maintains with reference to the occupation of a certain portion of the Mexican territory by the French. They have looked the message carefully through and find no vindication of the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Lincoln does not travel out of his way to insult or threaten Louis Napoleon, whereas our querulous opponents are very much grieved and astonished.

No fair-minded and intelligent man need be informed of the resolute purpose which Mr. Lincoln and his constitutional advisers have ever exhibited in first putting an end to this present war before engaging in another. They have allowed nothing to swerve them from this purpose.

Opportunities have been as thick as blackberries to embroil the nation in foreign wars. The aristocratic tyrants of the old world, are always plotting for the destruction of the Great Republic. They have not only been in sympathy with the rebels from the start, but have given their material aid and comfort, to help along this hated revolt.

The sky of the Atlantic is aglow to-day with the flames of our burning merchantmen, the work of practical cruizers, built in British ports with British gold, and manned by English men. The serious matter of the Trent affair, and other embarrassing questions that have been sprung upon us since the breaking out of the rebellion, might have been made the pretext of an appeal to the stern arbitrament of the sword, but for that wisdom which has manifested itself in the conduct of our foreign relations. The Administration resolved to put an end to the quarrel at home first and when that was accomplished, pay its respects to all insulting and officious meddlers that might be worthy of our attention.

Mr. Lincoln is determined to keep peace with all foreign powers until this great civil war is ended, unless it involves a sacrifice of national honor and self-respect; when that is demanded of us by any foreign potentate or power, the cannon will carry back our answer.

And in pursuing this wise policy, Mr. Lincoln and his Cabinet find ample justification in the hearty sanction which the loyal people of the nation have recently given them at the ballot-box. The popular verdict of the November elections was as much an endorsement of the manner in which our foreign affairs have been conducted, as it was an expression of purpose to bend every energy to crush out and forever silence this wicked and cruel attempt to overthrow our liberties.

Neither is it to be presumed that the party in power are insensible to the untoward condition of things that now exist in our neighboring Republic. Mr. Lincoln is as keenly conscious of the demands of liberty upon this continent as any of his most violent traducers, although he is too cautious and discreet to hazard all and lose all.

But what are we to think of the loyalty and patriotism of that class of persons in our midst who would be glad to see the country involved in complications with other powers which must necessarily lead to anxiety and alarm, if not to positive and open collision? Does their anxiety about the vindication of the Monroe doctrine have its spring and inspiration in the desire to aid, in some manner, the drooping cause of their rebel friends now arrayed in armed revolt against the government? We fear that such is really the position occupied by these carping critics to-day. Loving their party more than their country, they can see no freedom in a land where they and their friends are not the sole recipients of all the crumbs that fall from the table of official patronage, and the "Union as it was" for which they are so clamorous, means simply that they are to be the victors again at the ballot box, to which must be added their old battle cry, "to the victors belong the spoils."

LETTER FROM THE FEDERAL CAPITAL.

NEW YEAR'S DAY IN WASHINGTON.—RECEPTION AT THE WHITE HOUSE.—HOW THE PRESIDENT AND HIS LADY LOOKED.—RECEPTION AT THE SECRETARIES.—THE CONTRABANDS, &c., &c.

From a Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2, 1864.

Editors Gazette.—The reception, at the Presidential Mansion on New Year's day, was of a most gratifying character. Over the main entrance was the broad shield of the United States, with "Eagle of the free" gracefully festooned on either side. The Marine Band, stationed in the outer hall, discoursed soul stirring music. At an early hour, the Diplomatic Corps, the representatives from foreign courts, began to arrive.

They, with their attaches, wearing the insignia of their rank and dignity, presented a gorgeous display of glittering royalty. Some wore broad ribbons of honor, and nearly all sported decorations of the various orders of Knighthood. Prominent among the dazzling costumes, was that of Count Gortch, Austrian Minister, who was robed as a "Knight of Malta." Next in order came the officers of the army, and the navy, in undress uniform, to the number of five or six hundred. They were led by General Halleck the "Sir Jack Fall-staff" of the war department. Among these officers, were many gallant heroes, whose voices have often been heard on the hard-fought battle-field, cheering their brave men on to victory, and now occupy high places on the roll of honor.

Then came members of the Cabinet Judges of the Supreme Court, Senators and members of Congress, after which were admitted the whole world, and your humble servant, to pay their respects to, and take by the hand, the wisest, most patriotic, upright, and honest man, that ever ruled the destinies of any country. Passing through the outer hall, the scarlet room, on entering the oval drawing room, we came directly before Mr. Lincoln, to whom we were presented by Marshal Lamont.

The President was dressed in a suit of plain black, coat and pants, white vest and gloves. He appeared in good health and excellent spirits. His clear eyes beamed with good humor, and he not only cordially returned the pressure of the offered hand, but had a pleasant word or two for each one. Just beyond the President stood Mr. Lincoln, dressed in a rich, delicately shaded purple silk, trimmed with black velvet and things, with a rare lace necktie and a pearl brooch. In her hair, a drooping white feather, aided in giving effect to her toilette. (There, if your lady readers don't send me for the fashions after this, I never will undertake a thesis on "man-mau-making" again.)

She was presented to visitors by Secretary Stoddard. It is said by judges that she appeared to great advantage, and received her visitors with remarkable affability.

We were next ushered into the famous East Room, which is said to be eighty feet long, forty feet wide and twenty high. Here we lingered awhile to gaze upon the gorgeousness of its trimmings and furnishings, and then made our exit.

AT THE SECRETARIES.

Receptions were also had by Secretaries Seward, Stanton, Chase, Welles, Blair, Usher and Bates, at their residences, where their tables and side boards groined under the pressure of the choicest edibles and drinkables the season and market could afford.

AT THE HOSPITALS.

New Years was generally observed at the various hospitals in and about the city, by the officers first paying their respects to the surgeons in charge, and afterwards the convalescents, and such patients as were able paid the compliments of the season to the officers. In most of the hospitals a sumptuous dinner was served.

THE CONTRABANDS celebrated the day in various ways, as their "Emancipation Anniversary" meetings were held at their camps, and in their several places of worship.

Speeches were made, prayers of thanksgiving offered up, songs sung, and the wildest demonstrations of joy manifested, interspersed with the song of "Old John Brown" and "Blessed be Lord and Masses Lincoln."

Chief Justice Taney lies dangerously ill at his residence. The Republican announces that he is being treated by Drs. Dyer and Heller. Surely, he is in a "dangerous" condition.—Dr. Dyer on one hand an Heil or "sunshine" on the other. It is to be hoped he will repent of some of his judicial sins before he departs, also a court higher than his may pronounce a "Dead" decision in his case.

I am glad the holidays are over. Washington will resume its wonted activity, Congress will return to its labors, officers to their posts, clerks to their desks, the draft will stimulate volunteering—the two will add new life and vigor to our war-worn veterans in the field, while the life of the rebellion, which is fast ebbing out, will become extinct before this New Year shall have closed its labors.

Volunteers and Credits to Towns.

The following dispatch from Provost Marshal General Fry has been received at the Executive office:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6, 1864.

Recruits will be credited to the localities from which they receive their local bounties, provided the muster-rolls show them enlisted and mustered in as of the said localities.

The muster-rolls must show the facts of the case, and will be the evidence of awarding the credits.

Veterans in the service, re-enlisting, will be credited to the localities to which the re-enlistments and muster in rolls show them as belonging. Therefore until veterans have been re-mustered, it cannot be determined to what particular locality they will be credited.

The foregoing is in answer to many inquiries received by the department.

JAS. B. FRY, P. M. G.

There are now 8,385 rebel prisoners at Point Lookout. A thousand of these have offered to take the oath in order to be released. Many of these say they are willing to enlist in the army or navy of the United States. All acknowledge themselves sick of the war, and admit the hopelessness of the rebel cause. Many were forced into the ranks against their will, and say they have always been opposed to secession. Those from North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky are more willing to take the oath than those from other States.

The Union demonstrations in Arkansas still continue. Meetings were being held at the last advice at Helena, under the management of Ex-Senator Sebastian, Judge McKel and Parson Butler. Gen. N. P. Buford allowed the use of the Episcopal church, and ordered a general suspension of business, while the first meeting convened. Delegates were to be appointed on, the 2d inst., to attend the State Delegate Convention at Little Rock.

Of the whole number of men held to service under the first draft, about one-seventh served in person, two-sevenths served by substitute, and four-sevenths paid the commutation money.

The Americans at Paris have contributed $7,000 for the Sanitary Commission, and they are about holding a concert for the benefit of the commission.

A proposition will probably be made in Congress to increase the salaries and the number of the President's Private Secretaries.

Mr. Rogers, in the House, seeks to prove that he is in favor of a "vigorous prosecution of the war," by proposing to send commissioners to Richmond with a liberal supply of olive branches.

Vermont has the honor of leading her sister states in furnishing her full quota on the last call, and has plenty of volunteers to spare.

The La Crosse Democrat says the quota for La Crosse is filled.

The Monasha paper proposes a duty issue if the people will furnish sufficient encouragement.

The Kenosha Telegraph is alluding to the fearful rise of prices in everything, says the stock of the Kenosha, Rockford and Rock Island road has gone up to one dollar per share.

Senator Howe has made a proposition to relieve our captive soldiers, which is no less than to call out a million ninety day volunteers for the purpose, and put them under command of Gen. Grant.

The Eau Claire Free Press says that section 7, town 25, range 6, in the town of Bridge Creek, has sent fourteen soldiers to the war! Just think of it—a man for every 45 acres of farming land, and six of the men gone from one family.

A journeyman printer employed on a daily newspaper in Boston has received the sorrowful intelligence that a legacy of $4,500 awaits his acceptance in England; also that "there is more to come." A "fat take."

A letter from Morris Island thus speaks of a new iron-clad Confederate war vessel:

A new iron-clad ram, perhaps a third larger than the Atlanta, made her appearance in Cooper river a few days ago. She came down past Charleston with flags flying, rounded Castle Pinckney, fired a salute of four guns in broadside, and then returned. She made a stately appearance, had good proportions, with sloping lines, and was decidedly the most formidable looking craft that the enemy have yet exhibited in these southern waters.

"PASHURRA OF JOH."—Upon this congenial topic Josh Billings thus eloquently discourses:

Everybody is in the habit of bragging on Job, and Job did have considerable bile pashance, that's a fact, but did he ever keep a distick akule for 8 dollars a month, and board round? Did he ever reap loaded oats down hill on a hot day, and have all his gall buttons bust off at once? Did he ever have the jumpin teachee, and be made to tend the baby while his wife was over to Perkins to a tea-squall? Did he ever get up in the mornin awful dri and turf it 3 miles before breakfast to get a drink, and find that the man keep a temperance house? Did he ever undertake to milk a kicked heifer with a bushy tale, in fit time, out in a lot? Did he ever set down on a litter up kittens in the old rockin chair, with his summer partyoons on without sayin "darn-ashun"? If he could do all these things, and praise the Lord at the same time, all we have to say is, "Bully for Job!"

HAD SEVEN HUSBANDS.—A woman named Elizabeth Masi, who died at Florence 1863, had been married to seven husbands, all of whom she outlived. She married the last of the seven at the age of seventy. When on her death bed, she recalled the good and bad points in each of her husbands, and in the balance, she singled out her fifth spouse as the favorite, and desired that her remains might be interred near his.

There are more gamblers in Washington at present, than there have been at any time within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

If a woman tells more than the truth in speaking a rival's name, she will probably make the thing even in stating her own.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.

World's Dispatch.—The Senate debated on the conscription act most of the day, but came to no conclusion on any amendment. But one Senator favored the repeal of the $300 exemption clause, while others who spoke opposed such repeal. Indications are, not one-third of the Senators will favor its repeal.

During debate on the conscription bill in the Senate to-day, an important fact came out, that the term of enlistments of only 20,000 veteran volunteers expire before the 1st of July in all our armies.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.

A letter to the Times gives an interesting account of the expedition of a negro brigade into North Carolina, the results of which are, nearly 3,000 slaves released from bondage, with which were taken 250 ox, horse and mule teams and about 75 saddle horses. The guerrillas lost 13 killed and wounded, 10 dwellings, with many thousands bushels of corn burned, besides two distilleries, and one guerrilla hung—100 rifles, a lot of uniforms and equipments fell into our hands. Our loss was 12 killed and wounded and one taken prisoner. We brought away 214 rebel prisoners and 4 hostages.

The Janesville Gazette.

We had intended yesterday to allude to the receipt of a copy of the Janesville Gazette issued by its new proprietors, Messrs. Thomson & Roberts, but were prevented by a press of other matters. We now take great pleasure in saying, what we then intended to say, that we congratulate the people of Janesville, and of Rock county, in having acquired, as the conductors of their leading paper, two gentlemen so well qualified by natural ability, and experience in editorial life—as Messrs. Thomson & Roberts.

Both have been for some time connected with this paper, and during that time our relations have been of the pleasantest character. We have known them as men who properly appreciate the responsibilities and dignity of journalism; and who will be an honor to the profession anywhere.

Politically, their views will suit the people among whom their lot is now cast—that is to say, they are eminently sound. In the management of their paper, we venture to predict that their readers will find that while the "weightier matters" are not neglected, the Gazette will be a faithful and wide awake reporter of all matters of local interest and a zealous and able advocate of every good work and enterprise. May every success attend them.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The LeRoy Gazette very cleverly corners the slippery copperhead in the following catechism:

"Are you in favor of the Union?"
"Yes."
"Are you opposed to the success of the rebels?"
"Yes—provided this ain't a Nigger War."
"Do you think this is a Nigger War?"
"Yes."

A CARD.

Catarth, Throat Diseases, Asthma, Bronchitis, Early Stages of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Diseases of Women, and all other Complaints that lead to Consumption.

Are treated in new and eminently successful manner by Dr. Hale, who has a permanent office in the Myers House, JANESVILLE.

Catarth and Throat Diseases always end in Consumption, hence the necessity of consulting a physician devoted to this specialty, before it is too late. Those who are trying patent nostrums, or waiting for the disease to "wear itself out," are doing it to the injury of those who wait but in vain, and go down to the grave fallen victims to Consumption. Many might have been saved had they checked the disease while it was a Catarth or inflammation of the throat. All are invited to call and investigate Dr. Hale's mode of treatment, practiced by no other physician. Consultation free.

Persons unable to apply at the office may consult by letter, when question lists will be furnished them to give an accurate description of their case.
